Overview:

This breakfast discussion will provide LETG members with an opportunity to discuss how law firm are using business schools as part of their partner development programmes. Present will be members of LETG firms who have had direct have had experience of a range business schools in the Europe and the US. Within an open forum we will be discussing the pros and cons of using business schools, our experiences of using open and bespoke courses, what we have learnt about transferring the learning back into the firm, and ultimately how to measure the benefits and return on investment.

If you have had experience of using business schools, please come along to add in your own experience and to compare and contrast it with that of others.

If you have not had experience of using business schools please come along to learn more.

Given the nature of the discussion we will be using the Chatham House Rule and no materials will be circulated after the event.

We anticipate that this workshop will sell out quickly and are therefore limiting numbers for this workshop to three per firm, with places allocated on a first come, first served basis. Please note no refunds if you cancel after booking.

*Please note that any firm members wishing to attend events that are not named as either a representative or associate member will be required to pay the non-member fee unless an event is otherwise designated.
